Efficiency Head Declares Actuaries Are Handicapped by Late Reports.

HE REMINDS CONGRESS IT WILL NEED FIGURES

Committee Meets Today to Study Situation; March 20 Set as Final Date.

Further delay in the preparation of cost statements on which pro-posed government employes' retire-ment legislation hinges was indicated yesterday.

Herbert D. Brown, chief of the bureau of efficiency, charged with submitting the cost figures, issued a statement asserting that because of tedious and voluminous work in-volved the actuarles must have "time." He refused to amplify his formal statement and would not say

Lehlbach and Representatives Hud-son, of Michigan, and Gibson, of Vermont, has already prepared a bill, and while the full committee is now described as going over it "section by section" it is understood to be really marking time awaiting the cost statements.

It will meet today and discuss the situation in the light of Mr. tin, Brown's statement

Mr. Brown indicated in an ap-parently well-studied sentence of his statement that Congress should not pass a bill until the cost figures are submitted.

"Congress believes that it should have such facts before passing a law," said Mr. Brown.

Brown Explains Delay.

Mr. Brown explained that varying statistics on retirements from service, incomplete returns to requests for information, the fact that the census bureau had not completed its information for the that the census bureau had not completed its information for the plan until February 27, had all contributed toward the delay.

"Thus does it become necessary that actuaries must have time in the preparation of their figures," his report states. "The material used as a basis for these figures was not finally delivered to the actuaries until March 1. It must be handled in one way and another that one and another question may be answered. It is only through its handling that Congress may know whether a proposed retirement act is to cost the government, 20 or 50 years hence, $20,000,000 or $5,000,000 a year. # WILL SUBPENA COAL

BLOCKING OF INQUIRY REPORTED BY AUDITORS

March 22 Is Date Set for Further Investigation Into Alleged Profiteering.

Asserting that local coal dealers had refused to make available ma-terial information, the Senate District committee yesterday decided to subpena them to appear for a "showdown" March 22 in connec-tion with charges of profiteering.

The committee acted on a report submitted by H. A. A. Smith, chief investigator for the compitoller general, who has for nearly a month been seeking to examine the dealers' books.

Mr. Smith reported, according to Senator Capper, chairman of the worthy teachers and clergy out of the country, and openly supporting numbers of infamous gambling towns." He also mentioned the last note sent to the Mexican officials by the American State Department, criticizing it as being "took weak."

An explanation of the "big brother" movement was given by John Ford. A number of songs were sung by Dennis Fitzpatrick, George Dowden and William Curtin, with Claude Nichols, accompanist.

CILIDEATC CLAIM CAT year is the regular calendar year, Senator Capper explained, and a full twelve-month period was available there, but only a "partlal" report could be obtained.

These three companies, the committee chafrman said, withheld what the auditors described as their "ledgers and balance sheets." The result, Senator Capper declared, was that "wholly worthless" In-formation was made available. "There is absolutely no informa-tion furnished," said Senator Cap-

Dean Wilbur said also that dissection is properly confined to supervision in the university, and not extended to the rooms of students.

"Of course," said Mr. Capper, "the coal crisis is over and we are not pressed for time, so to speak, but the committee has decided to pursue its investigation to the end in justice to the dealers, and the public."

22 Queens of Mid-lent Half Frozen in Parade

Paris March 11 (Ry A. P.) .-Three riotous processions and 22 'queens" ushered mi-Careme, or mid-Lent, into Paris today. The festivities were held under gray skies and in a flipping March wind, which failed to prevent an enormous crowd from turning out to take part in the parades or to look on, but did chill spring's gayly costumed royalties and Pierrots and Pierrettes.

The Queen of Paris, Simone Maitre, was attended by the queens of the different corporations of the city. The poor little queens for a day, recruited from among stenographers, hairdressers and waitresses, sitting in soli tary grandeur upon carriages of the style of the Middle Ages, suffered so from chilled feet and numbed hands that they forgot to smile and throw the traditional kisses of the mi-Careme procession to their loval subjects.

At one point spectators organized a demonstration, shouting, "How about one little smile?"

WILSON DECIDES TO SEND GERMAN ENVOY BACK HOME

Is Depressed at Being Forced to Take This Action and Still Hopes to Avoid Actually Entering War—German-Americans Rush to Pledge Their Allegiance to the United States.

INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE

Thas been often asserted in various German circles that the declaration of the ruthless submarine warfare was not the dynamic, but merely the pretext for the rupture between the United States and Germany; that the power of American financial interests would in any case have broughly America into the war; that Wilson himself was thoroughly impregnated with proally feeling. The assertion betrays a wealth of ignorance. Wilson was never more pacifically minded than at the moment of the German declaration, never more clear that the aspirations of the allies were as selfish as those of Germany. The only thing that could convince him that he was wrong and could make him anti-German was the action taken by Berlin. German was the action taken by Berlin.

Upon Col. House the German Ambassador's letter produced an effect

Upon Col. House the German Ambassador's letter produced an effect that was immediate and definite.

"It is absurd to call the letter," he recorded, "an answer to our request for terms. Germany has evidently long ago determined upon her U-boat warfare, and the peace proposals which she put out last month were probably gotten up for home consumption and to better Germany's position in the eyes of neutrals. She desires some justification for her submarine warfare, and thought she could get it by declaring her willingness to make peace."

The colonel recognized without any mental effort that the German eyes, did not rob the notification o any mental effort that the German declaration meant war.

"As the afternoon grew late," wrote House, "the excitement became intense, for the different press agencies had begun to receive the news. Wiseman, Gaunt, newspapers men, &c., called me up to discuss it. there was a good deal of suppressed excitement among the Pennsylvania officials, who knew of my departure for Washington. A tenseness was already beginning to be felt, since the newspapers had got out extras foreshadowing the seriousness of the situation."

On January 31, 1917, the same day as that on which Bernstorff disclosed to House Germany's secret terms, he sent to Mr. Lansing a notification that: "From February 1, 1917, sea trafformatic forms of the seriousness of the seriousness of the situation."

NONRESIDENTS IN SCHOOLS.

It will be natural for the taxpayers of Washington to approve the provision in the District appropriation bill which would require residents of Maryland and Virginia to pay for the tuition of their children who attend the public schools of Washington. The change in the appropriation bill will require more than 3,000 nonresident school children now enrolled in the local schools to pay reasonable tuition fee, which, at the rates proposed, would yield a revenue of $274,000.

With Congress showing every evidence of a disposition to make the people of Washington pay more and more toward the maintenance of the District, this sum is not by any means an insignificant item. The schools of the District are overcrowded, due in a large measure to the attendance of children who do

The people of Washington have no desire to exclude residents of Maryland or Virginia from the public schools of the District, but with mounting taxes and overcrowded schools it is only reasonable that residents of Maryland and Virginia who prefer to send their children to District schools should be asked to pay their Representatives Zihlman, of Maryland, and Moore, of Virginia, oppose amendment to the present law. Suppose the public schools of Maryland and Virginia nearby Washington were superior to those of Washington? Would it not be likely that many parents in this city would choose to send their boys and girls to those schools? Would either of these States permit their attendance if they did not pay?

The March snowstorm furnished the crowning argument in favor of changing inauguration date to January 1.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY AID.

Mr. A. J. Brosseau, director of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, comes to the defense of the Federal aid highway act. commonly called the 50-50 plan.

He says that Federal aid is not "aid" at all. but the share paid by the government as a recognized obligation for its use of and interest in such a national system. limits Federal expenditure to $15,000 a mile and the result as it works out, according to Mr. Brosseau, is not 50-50 but about 47-53, with the biggest share on the side of the States.

In 1916 Congress passed the first Federal aid highway act, appropriating $5,000,000 to start the job of assisting the States in building nationally connected highways. Since then Congress has appropriated about $615,000,000 Of this sum about $420,000,000 has been paid to the States.

The system now totals about 178,797 miles. with all States included. The work is directed by the State highway boards, in cooperation with the Federal board. Mr. Brosseau estimates that the States will take in this year. for license and gas taxes, something like $400.000.000.

ARE WOMEN MORE BEAUTIFUL?

The question as to whether women today are more beautiful than they were a decade ago has been revived by the meeting of the Master Hairdressers' association in New York, as well as by a discussion among English portrait painters. The head of the hairdressers' association of New York asserts that women are three times as beautiful as they were in 1915. He cites figures to prove it, declaring that there are 30,000 beauty parlors in the United States: that they were patronized by 60.000.000 women and children-and men, too, mind you. These millions last year spent the huge sum of $390,000,000 in improving their looks. More than 170,000 men and women are engaged in the beauty parlor industry and in schools which are turning out beauty grad nates at the rate of 2,000 a year

In England portrait painters agree that the beauty of women has not deteriorated in medern times, and some insist that it has been heightened in the increase of intelligence and strength. Sir Frank Dickson, president of the Royal Academy, opines that there are more beautiful women now because of better health conditions, and another member of the academy in a rapture of ecstasy exclaims that the seas, skies, trees, birds and flowers are just as beautiful as ever, and so are the women. An English noblewoman says that the women are much more beautiful than they used to be, with far better physiques, with their hair done simply and with clothes that do not distort their figures. Another declares that women retain their beauty to a much greater age than in former years. She adds that it should not be difficult to find many women with the beautiful proportions of the Venus de Milo. With all these experts in pulchritude agree ing that women all over the world are grow ing more beautiful every year, it is not for man to argue. Most men will accept the verdict of the experts even if in the masculine mind the fashionable emaciation does not add to their attractiveness. They look askant at the "bob," too. In this connection, the master hairdressers have declared that the "bob" must go, advancing the ominous prophecy that if women continue to bob their hair it will result in a race of bearded ladies.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

The Senate has ordered an investigation of the tariff commission under a resolution offered by Senator Robinson. The inquiry will be made by a committee of five senators to be appointed by the Vice President. An amendment to the resolution was agreed to, which will greatly broaden the scope of the inquiry by taking in the question of alleged attempts to influence the action of the tariff-commis-

The purpose of the original Robinson resolution was a good one. It sought to ascertain what the tariff commission had been doing and what it had left undone.

Ever since the tariff commission was created it has been the subject of political controversy. There could have been no other out-The tariff commission has no excuse for existence, and it is to be hoped that the impending inquiry will convince Congress of the wisdom of abolishing the commission.

The tariff is a political question, because it underlies party policies in two-vital particulars-the raising of revenue and the question of protecting American industry. No party which is charged with control of the government can afford to subordinate its judgment to that of a tariff commission, even if the commission should confine itself strictly to a statement of facts: for it is not only tariff facts. but tariff policy, which must be decided by the political party that may be in power. Facts may show that a tariff may be safely reduced; so far as revenues are concerned, and yet such action might be very unwise from a protection standpoint. Or, if the party in power should be opposed to protection, it might insist upon enacting a nonprotective tariff in spite of many facts indicating that American industry would be crippled by such a law.

Congress is capable of gathering all the facts required for the making of tariffs. It can not delegate its tariff-making functions without running risk of having its law set aside as unconstitutional. Since the enactment of the elastic tariff clause the chief duty of the tariff commission has been to report facts upon which the President could raise or lower the tariff within certain limits. This procedure, from a political viewpoint, is pernicious, because it throws a responsibility upon the President which should be borne by the party that controls Congress. Any decision by any President will be attacked, and if the President should belong to a party not in control of Congress his decisions might lead to serious political consequences.

The tariff commission, so far as it has any powers at all, is a form of bureaucracy which has no place in the American system. There are too many bureaus and commissions. - Congress has attempted to shift duties to commissions and bureaus which it should perform itself. The tariff commission should be abol-

CANADIAN POWER.

Canada's reasons for refusing permission for the export of hydro-electric power developed in the St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers were explained to Chairman Dempsey, of the rivers and harbors committee, by Mr. Davis, of Ottawa, who has been in Washington in connection with Canadian affairs. Mr. Davis is said to have reported that the Aluminum Company of America has arranged to establish a great manufacturing plant in the Saguenay district, now little more than a wilderness, which withup-to-date modern city of at least 65,000 people. The power for operating the plants will be developed from the waters which are now heing harnessed

It is the belief of the Dominion authorities that manufacturing operations of great magnitude will follow, which will eventually result in making the Province of Quebec one of the most important manufacturing centers of the continent. Furthermore Mr. Davis predicted that the development of the enormous water power, now running to waste, will enable the Dominion to absorb all the unemployed labor of England, thereby relieving the mother country of one of her most difficult problems, and at the same time creating wealth in Canada.

Another cause of unhappy marriages is the sight of a girl who caught a richer man.

HISTORY BUTCHERS

This week appears to mark the open season for iconoclasts. Three of these gentlemen have rushed into print since last Sunday at midnight with polished breast-plates and lances a-tilt determined to knock all the pretty little storie out of histories. First came a knight of veracity signing himself Alexander Stoddart. in a letter to a New York paper, in which he declares that the Molly Pitcher well never did exist so far as Molly herself was concerned. He tries to make us believe that when Molly re lieved the thirst of the soldiers at the battle of Monmouth she drew the water not from a well but from "Wenrock Brook."

On the same day that Mr. Stoddart's screed appeared there was printed in the same newspaper a report that Prof. Walter L. Whittlesey of Princeton, digging into history, finds himself warranted in declaring that the Fourth of July is not the birthday of the Declaration of Independence, but that on the contrary "the original of the Adams copy is the engrossed draft made after July 19, 1776, and signed August 2.'

As if that were not enough. Vincent de Sola on that very same day, from the safety of his castle at Kew Gardens. Long Island, takes his pen in hand to destroy another historical truth. It is recorded that when Queen Elizabeth, consort of the gallant King of the Belgians, praised the soldierly qualities of the boys of the A. E. F. in the presence of Mrs. Hylan, that lady promptly came back with, "Queen, you said a mouthful." But Senhor de Sola tells us that while a friend of his and the Queen of Belgium were paying a social call on King Tut, in his tomb, that friend asked her majesty as to the authenticity of Mrs. Hylan's alleged remark, and that Queen Elizabeth was unable to recall all her conversation with Mrs. Hylan. Therefore Senhor de Sola would have the American people dump this truthful tale into the limbo of discredited legends.

It must be that the three gentlemen who are attempting to tinker the facts of history were all born under the influence of Cancer; else how can one account for their desire to "crab' all that we hold dear in the annals of the past?

The bandit who steals our paste jewels steals trash but the villain who would destroy our traditions leaves us poor indeed. And how easy it is to prove that tomorrow is today, or some other day! The State of West Virginia went dry" on the first day of July, 1912. August Mueller kept a saloon in Martinsburg. On the first of June of that year he placed a sign over his door which informed the world that "The First of July Is the Last of August," and no iconoclast on earth can prove that statement a lie.

PROTECTION OF DEPOSITORS.

A bill has been introduced in the House pro viding for the furnishing of surety bonds by all banks, national and State, and trust companies which are members of the Federal reserve system for the protection of depositors.

The bill would compel each bank to file in the office of the treasurer of the United States surety bond conditioned upon the payment by the bank and trust company, upon demand, of 25 per cent of the deposits. New banks organized would be required to furnish a bond equal to the capital stock; and equal to 25 per cent of the deposits thereafter each year.

In defense of the bill it is said that every bank. State and national, which receives school county, city and State deposits, is required to give a surety bond in amount equal to the de posits. It is urged that such a plan would tend to make bank officials exercise greater care.

Government insurance of deposits in all banks coming under the Federal reserve sys tem would increase the cost of operation and tend to reduce the returns to the stockholders. Would it tend to reduce the number of failures and compel greater care in management

The last report of the comptroller of the currency states that in 1925 there were only 98 failures of national banks as compared with 138 in 1924. The total liabilities were about $221.300.000 in 1925. In the same year the total liabilities of failed State and private banks amounted to more than $724,500,000.

The greater number of failures of national banks come about through too many banks and insufficient business to support them. This is the case in the West. Only 39 failures out of the 98 last year were due to inexperience and mismanagement, and only 10 were due to defalcations. Last year about 84 per cent of all the claims, including claims of depositors, were paid to the creditors. The stockholders of the failed banks were assessed $69,900,000. The comptroller of the currency says:

It is believed that the experience gained bankers in the past ten years will be great value to the banking business of a future and out of it will come better qualified bankers, more conservative management and greater safety to depositors.

The laws now seem to protect the depositors in all bank's under the Federal reserve system to the limit of human possibility. Wherever tried, government insurance or bank insurance of depositors has not improved the situation or reduced the number of failures.

Senator La Follette has presented a memo rial of the Federated Trade Councils of Milwankee praying that action be taken to restore the political rights of Eugene V. Debs. It will be recalled that Mr. Debs was under an overwhelming handicap in his last race for the Presidency of this republic because he was confined, against his inclination, in a Federal enal institution. A man desiring to enter the White House can scarcely do effective campaign work from a cell in a prison. The appeal of Mr. Debs' friends for the restoration of his rights as an American citizen indicate that Eugene may again head one of the numerous tickets to be submitted to the electorate in November, 1928, but even should he be chosen in the electoral college to succeed Mr. Coolidge he can not take his seat unless Congress clears the way. The judiciary committee of the Senate should act promptly on the appeal in behalf of Candidate Debs Start the race "fair field and no favors.

Since last in Washington I have played leading theaters in many of the leading Eastern cities, including Boston. Providence, Pittsburgh, Rochester, Harrisburg, Scranton, &c. After Washington I go to Philadelphia for the fifth returnengasement within a year.

I have always said that "Awoman is as old as she looks." My friends say that I look and act like 20, and I can say to them that I feel like 20 and believe I am always going to feel and act like 20.

I also know from personal experience and practice that beauty can be cultivated and youth extended. I have surely retained my youth, as you have seen. Happiness and good health go hand in hand. My greatest happiness comes from sharing my beauty secrets with girls and women, as early and constant training of the right yout always brings lasting results.

I spent a fortune in the quest for Youth and Beauty. Now I offer you under my name and guarantee the best toiletries I have found in my world search.

The following answers many of the questions I am constantly asked in reference to my toiletries and daily regime:

White Youth Clay facial when you wish to appear at your best. Facial Youth—A liquid cleansor. for daily use. It does wonders. It makes the skin clean, smooth and soft.

Youth Cream—in both cold cream and vanishing types—to my mind is the best cream modern science knows to soften and beautify the skin. Use the Cold type very freely before retiring, also as protection against the elements.

Mr. Hogan also reminds the court that government counsel did not in their reply brief opposing the allowance of a special appeal controvert any of the statements by defendants' counsel that the allowance of a special appeal would materially do away with a great deal of expense, trouble and inconvenience to both government and defense witnesses, who would have to come all the way across the continent to testify and be in attendance at the trial for many days.

In reply to the criticism by government counsel because the defendants counsel mentioned the radio speech by Senator Walsh in their brief in support of the motion for allowance of a special appeal, Mr. Hogan says that government counsel is mistaken in their idea that the action of Senator Walsh in broadcasting the "lowdown" on the so-called "oil scandal" from a radio station has been forgotten and has now no place in the appeals. M. Paul-Boncour and M. Louch-

M. Paul-Boncour and M. Loucheur, of France, were appointed emissaries to inform the German statesmen of this program and urge their presence at tomorrow's gathering.

After their departure from the council chamber Premier Briand, who previously had delivered a long and impassioned speech for concord, and incidentally also for enlargement of the council, made another personal appeal to M. Unden not to veto enlargement. But the not to veto enlargement. But the Swedish statesmen remained firm.

Briand Deplores Tension. M. Briand insisted tonight that all of the misunderstandings be-tween the French and the Germans had been dissipated. He asserted that the entry of Germany into the league was an essential of interna-tional policies and that if the reich did not enter the Locarno agree-ment would become mere scraps of paper.

In the opinion of M. Briand, the crisis could easily be settled in six months, but he admitted grave doubts as to whether in the present

My little niece of 8 is asked to a masquerade—doesn't the world move in these days? What would you suggest as a costume for her—not too hard to make? She's a rather boyish sort of little person.

What I want to say is this. He is a hard worker, is his own boss and tries to make every dollar he can. But he does like to drink. He is a good-natured fellow, would do anything for me. But he gets mean and would argue with any one when he is drinking. Now it takes more than two or three to get him that way. When I see he is taking too many, I am worried and think he is going to make trouble. I tell him it's enough, but he tells me I am bossy, and want to boss him and tell him what to do. But I only tell him in a nice way. I am afraid he will start a scrap. That makes me so nervous. And especially when my friends come from the city to see me and my folks. He is bound to be that way. It gets me disgusted. I tell him of it and tell him when friends are coming—and ask him to be careful. Indian Ideas About a Clock.

A CURIOUS event took place at the Quebec fort in the summer of 1632. Indian visitors were watching a small French boy who was drumming on a box with sticks Suddenly the youngster lifted a stick and struck one of the Indians Strangely enough, the blow drew blood. The Indian declared that he must be given a present to make up for the injury.

"No," said one of the Frenchmen.
"We do not do things that way. We will punish the boy."
To the surprise of the Indians.

To the surprise of the Indians, the man made ready to lay on with a whip. "No, no!" they cried. "Don't hit the little boy. You won't need to give any present."

The white man would not listen, and was about to strike when an Indian prevented him. Throwing his coat over the child, he said: "You can hit me, but you can't hit the little boy. He did not know what he was doing."

Three priests who lived amid a tribe west of Quebec told of the interest the Indians took in their

The Goofer Has a Will of His Own

The Goofer feels that it is time to exert his vill-you know, the will that should be developed to its highest power—so he has decided not to see Mitzi. He is taking a last look at her picture before he turns it to the wall. It takes a great deal of will power.

The Goofer thinks he will go to all the places for instance. But it just happened that Mitzi had been going to review some costume designs. The Goofer sees her in her new spring coat of charmeen, with printed silk blouse.

The Goofer decides to buy a car-he won't see Mitzi in the showroom. But he does, for Mitzi has decided that Dad should buy a nice green car for spring. Green is so popular. Besides she even wears the cape and the close-fitting hat to match it.

Mitzi is teasing the Goofer about where he's been lately, and won't he eat dinner with her. "Well, where are you eating?" questions the Goofer. It is absolutely not in his power—ever, any time—to refuse Mitzi. He may have read sixteen books on the subject, but not one word but "yes" occurs to him.

Despite the taking of profits, however, with the exception of the sugar stocks and a few other issues, the general undertone of the market continued from exceedibly in the the general undertone of the market continued firm, especially in the railroad division. It was clear that Amthe constructive developments of the last few days had created a Amthe more cheerful atmosphere in the financial community.

The continued ease in money, which represent and ruled at 44 per.

which renewed and ruled at 4½ per cent; the series of dividend increases, new merger deals and news that the government bond offering had been oversubscribed contributed to the contrib uted to the good feeling. Added to those influences was an announce-ment today that the price of crude oil had been raised in California, the largest producing State in the The advance in that field was deemed more important than the recent cut in the Pennsylvania district. It was an interesting com-mentary on the public temper that buying through commission houses has been much in excess of the selling since the break. It also is evident that the bankers who salvaged wrecked pools have not been offering much of their recently acquired stock at current levels

Heavy accumulation of Western oils followed the news of price advances. California Petroleum was vances. California Petroleum was in particularly good demand and responded with a rise of several points. Atlantic Refining, General Petroleum, Pacific Oil, and, in fact, most of the oils, were bid up, although not all gains were held. High priced specialties also were strong. Chemical, American Can General Electric and others reached new high levels for the rallying movement, although they reacted sharply in the afternoon, and Can finished 6½ points under the day's top and 3¼ net lower.

Demand for the rails was active all day. The dividend increase on Pere Marquette whetted speculative appetite for further transportation shares, particularly those which are believed to have dividend possibilities. Wall street also believes there is much activity under the surface looking toward railroad consolidations, despite the rejection of the Nickel Plate merger. In the case of the latter the pro-moters of a merger are expected to make fresh proposals, although necessarily progress along that line must be slow because of the necessity of arranging new details with the roads concerned. Chesapeake & Ohio common and preferred, and other issues were advanced to the highest levels quoted since the break, and the first named closed 5% net higher. Pere Marquette, however, after going to a new high for the movement, reacted and closed fractionally lower. Norfolk & Western closed 5½ points net

Federal Mining & Smelting was an outstanding strong spot, with a 6-point gain, and at one time it was 10 points up. United Cigar Stores finished 4½ net higher, Commercial Solvents up 4 and United Fruit, Barnet Leather, American Linseed and Air Reduc-tion closed at gains of between 3 and 4 points. National Cloak & Suit common and preferred were under pressure, the former losing 5 ¼ and the latter 6¾. Selling of sugar stocks was due to reports of price shading in the refined sugar market. The sugar outlook has not improved. This promises to be another year of comparatively small profits to producers.

Danish kroner gained 15 points,

Danish kroner gained 15 points, going well above the 26-cent level. Elsewhere foreign exchange market changes were small.

"I do not intend to pass up any player who can perform on the right side of second base," he stated. "Of course, if necessary, I will have to take a chance on Stewart or Myer should Bluege be put out of busi-ness, but neither of these lads is at home there and if I am able to pick up a likely looking prospect, you may rest assured I will do it." Dame Rumor says that President Griffith already has a line on a promising but inexperienced piece of material and has even gone so far as to offer the lad in question a contract, but the Old Fox would neither deny nor confirm this tonight, simply remarking have to wait and see."

ANCELLATION of the proposed battle tonight for the real estate title of the prize-ring industry was understood to have been brought about by the protests of Florida realtors, who feared that the meeting between Gene Tunney and Young Stribling would have had a disastrous effect on land values, regardless of its outcome.

According to grapevine reports from the Alligator State, the encounter had become more than a personal matter It also involved professional pride, in which these two rising young realtors are said to specialize.

Gene Tunney has passed the state of the said to the said to winter months as "shillaber" for one of the rising and grow-ing developments of Florida. Young Stribling and the rest of the Striblings are heavily interested in the soil that made the State famous. Bad blood is believed to have been gen-erated when both of the young-business men stated that their respective properties were the best possible buys of a land that is full of nothing else.

Side bets of ocean frontage and business lots by the prin-cipals set a fashion that the business element feared would cause a greater portion of the saleable property in Florida to be wagered on the outcome. It was anticipated that the reaction on the market prices of real estate would be ter-

T HERE was a suspicion also that there was but slight danger that either of the principals would be injured. New York experts decried the match as an extremely poor one. It was not as bad as that, as might easily have been proven by the same experts if Tex Rickard had staged it in New York, but the winner would merely have had a tenuous option on the heavyweight contendership.

The bout would have been interesting because it would have been the first actual test of the Georgia schoolboy's ability in quite some time. There have been indications that the youngster burned himself out in providing a competence for his indigent parents. while he was still a minor. The encounter with Tunney would have demonstrated the correctness of this assertion.

cooperation on the part of the local citizens and can be counterbalanced by the increased gate receipts as the population grows.

"Baseball will soon be seif-supporting in Florida," he says. "The cities are getting so big that in the near future the teams will be able to get along without guarantees. Here in St. Petersburg the Yanks are going to run their own games, with only a small guarantee, depending on the receipts to make up for the cost of training."

Joyce, Thomas and Hadley Hold Bison Club in Check.

By FRANK H. YOUNG. ALMETTO, Fla., March 11. The Harrismen were in a batting mood here this afternoon in their contest with the Buffalo Internationals, and romped home with a 15-to-1 victory in a game which never even had them breathing Joe Harris, with five hits, including a triple and a double; Ossie Bluege, with three two-baggers and another good for three sacks; Johnny Tobin and Buddy Myer, swung their stick with particular swung their stick with particular eclat, while the trio of Nat mounds-men used - Ray Joyce, Thomas and Irving Hadley-never Thomas and Irving Hadley—never had to work at full speed.

The Bisons used Roy Auer, Harry Bennett, a former Dodger, and Pat Shea on the hill, but none was effective, 21 hits being garnered off their collective offerings.

ALL of the competition was knocked out of the game by the Nats in the third stanza when half a dozen juicy runs were coined and added to a singleton, which had been manufactured in the previous frame.

As a matter of fact, the Harris nen started round two as if it would net them a million, a pass to Goslin being followed by J. Haris' single and Bluege's double, which counted the Goose. Auer then halted the rally temporarily by personally killing two Nats at the plate. Then came the barrage of bingles, and what not, when the big leaguers came in for their next turn at the tee. In addition to two singles by Tobin, one by Myer, J. Harris' triple and a second two-sacker by Bluege, the Nats benefited by two walks, a suicide, and an error.

Meanwhile Joyce had had the Bisons eating out of his hand, two scattered singles being their hit allotment in the three while he walked but one and fan-ned a pair.

Bennett and Thomas took up the mound duties in the fourth, the former finding life anything but pleasant, due largely to a single from Bennie Tate's willow which came with the sacks loaded

THE Bisons packed the aisles on "Lefty," too, but he fanned Bennett for the third out, and had nothing to worry about during the remainder of his stay. The Nats touched Bennett for another marker in the sixth.

The seventh saw Hadley and Shea relieve Thomas and Bennett,

BOTH challenger and champion rose to heights of spectacular shooting as Hagenlacher steadily thrust ahead in quest of the title. Schaefer supplemented a run of 123 in the 39th inring by posting 118 in the 41st, with a string of 9 sandwiched between the two long rallies.

Hagenlacher came back with 101 in his half of the fortieth and then reeled off 67, increasing his total to 1,433 as against 978 for the title-

After Schaefer had stopped at 46 in the forty-second frame, Hagen-lacher, needing only 67 points to win, could get but 5 caroms, misswin, could get but 5 caroms, missing an easy one-cushion shot. He failed to count in forty-third after the champion had made two spectacular three-cushion strokes, while the next two innings brought him but 3 additional points with the balls so badly spread that nether player could protected.

when a spill occurred. In spite of the accident, the local combination negotiated the distance in 3 minutes and 33 seconds.

A spurt of 123 by Schaefer in the thirty-ninth inning, his best run of the match, revived hope among friends of the champion that he might finish with a sensational rush as he did against Edouard Horemans recently in Chicago. The paper because the quality of their vision and the soundness of their integrity had been attacked by writers covering post-season games between the Western association and the Western league.

The language, according to the court record, was not mild. It was the sort of talk that sprinkles Western novels, where men apparently are more than men. Nevertheless, twelve good men and true could not reach the conclusion that any real damage had been done to the names and reputations of Gerald W. Hayes and Edward P. Gaffney, the two complainants.

The State attorney general, duly sworn, said that he agreed thoroughly with the condemnation of the umpires. A former secretary to the governor of Oklahoma was similarly emphatic, the county attorney testified that he could not see how any he could not see how any milder language could have been used, and the chief of the fire department indorsed every word that was printed. Yet in relation to other matters all of these men are probably tem-perate individuals.

THIS column's respected colleague. Stony McLinn, has transferred the "high hat." Mention was made of the fact that the Athletics were said to have worn the "tall Kelley" while they were out in front last year, and the addition of this piece of mental. sartorial elegance had something to do with the downfall of the club.

If this is true Mr. McLinn, who associated frequently and closely with the hirelings of Connie Mack last year, ought to be an expert on the "high hat," its origin, its cause and its effect. Classing him so, it may interest the baseball enthusiasts of Washington to learn that Mr. McLinn has transferred the highest "high hat" that he has ever encounhat" that he has ever encoun-tered to the cranium of Ray-mond Stanley Harris.

After reviewing the mem After reviewing the members and prospects of the Washington club at some length Stoney reaches the conclusion that the "Elevated Top Piece" may have much to do with the destination of the Washington base ball club this year. Or to use his own language he says:

B UCKY HARRIS, bally-hooed, petted and admired as the boys' mired as the boys boss—the youngest manager in the history of baseball to win two penannts and one world's title his first two years in the saddle—wears the tallest high hat in the universe. Bucky has to hold his head so high to balance his top piece that he can't see any person below a President, an Ambassador, a million dollar movie actor or somebody of equal rank This high hatting may wreck the Senators quicker wreck the Senators quicker than old age or injuries or the ordinary causes of a b. b. com-pany's backsliding."

As has been previously stated Stoney may have reason to class himself as an expert on the subject of "high hatting" and by this token recognize a "skinny skinner" before the world at large. Harris would not be human if he did not feel some pride in his accomplishments, but this column gives him credit for knowing that "pride goeth before a fall" and feels that he is too interested in his own welfare to have the fall take place from any such cause.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CONCEPTION OF GOD GIVEN BY LECTURER

Peter V. Ross Stresses Importance of Principle in All Phases of Life.

SAYS MRS. EDDY MADE MEN CONSCIOUS OF GOD make addresses.

Helper of the Sufferer and Sorrowing.

A lecture on "Christian Science: The Scientific Conception of God" was delivered last evening in The Masonic Auditorium by Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., of San Francisco Calif. Mr. Ross is a member of the SUGGESTED BY MACNIDER Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Principle Controls All.

"Everything good, true, or permanent is founded upon and con-trolled by Principle. All right ac-tion, energy, intelligence, or life has its vitality and operation by virtue indwelling Principle. The finest thing that can be said of an individual is to say he is a man of Principle. The highest type of government is a government by law rather than by men.

ment is a government by law rather than by men.

"Jesus referred to Principle as the Father, when, having in mind his healing of the sick and his resuscitation of the dead, he said, "The Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.' And Jesus made clear the availability of Principle to every man when he further declared. 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also.' Today it is being demonstrated in Christian Science that any one who will try to understand the Master's teachings and live up to them, can, at least in some degree, feel the presence, the impulse, the power of Principle, which heals the sick and reforms the wayward as certainly now and here as when Jesus walked the streets of Jeruschem or taught on the hillsides of Galilee.
